

Political Clubs Hear Talks by Party Representatives

Organizational meetings of the Young Republican and Young Democrat clubs were held Thursday afternoon. The meetings were the first political gatherings on the campus in the history of the University.

The GOP group heard brief talks by Max Harding, organizational chairman of the Young Republicans in Nebraska; William Harding, Douglas County Young GOP representative; James Diesing, chairman of the Douglas County Young Republicans, and Dan Tolman, president of the University of Nebraska group.

Officers of the club were elected. Gordon Anderson is president, Barbara Frederiksen is vice-president, Clifford C. Armony is secretary, Pat Nolan is assistant secretary and Donna Hayes is treasurer. The group drew up plans for writing a constitution and by-laws. William Utley, head of the department of government and history, is sponsor of the group.

The Young Democrats heard a talk by Alfred Raneri, candidate for County Commissioner, on the essential details for the initial organization of a Young Democrats group. Plans were also made for drawing up the club's by-laws and constitution.

Officers for the group are Joyce Blackney, president; Roger Dumbler, vice-president, and Anne Pane, secretary-treasurer. Paul Beck, instructor of history, is faculty sponsor of the group.

Both organizations will hold meetings on Thursday afternoons. The Young Republicans will meet at 1 p. m. and the Young Democrats will meet at 3:30 p. m. Both meetings will be held in room 207.

All notices of interest to the organizations will be posted on the bulletin board outside room 217A.

Fall Play

Cast Progresses as Staging Nears

"I am very pleased with the progress the cast is making in 'Goodby, My Fancy,'" said Dr. Edwin Clark, dramatics professor. "I am particularly interested in watching the deepening interpretations the student actors are giving their own parts."

But although the cast rehearsals are smoothing out, the stage crew and the properties committee are beginning to hit the usual snags in set building and furnishings.

An erroneous measurement of one and one-fourth inches in the window arch caused the complete rebuilding of the arch. The set is a typical college dorm room. A desk, sofa, stuffed animals, record players, pictures and telephones are some of the props used for the set.

The properties committee needs a large size panda bear and a picture of "The Laughing Cavalier." Tickets for "Goodby, My Fancy" will go on sale tomorrow in the ticket office. Students must show their activity cards to get a play ticket. Admission price for non-students is 75 cents. There will be no reserved seats for the production, which is scheduled for Nov. 7 and 8. Curtain time is 8:15 p. m.

Two Grads Get Navy Commission

Two graduates of the University received naval commissions at the U. S. Naval School in Newport, R. I. Francis T. Cronin, '51, and Leonard Schultze, '52, were commissioned as ensigns Friday.

Cronin majored in business and engineering administration. Schultze was a chemistry major. Both received General Line commissions after four months of training. A total of 880 men received commissions.

Tomahawk Copy Due Nov. 7

Nov. 7 is the deadline for all organizational pictures and copy for the Tomahawk. "This deadline will be strictly observed," said Jim Townsend, Tomahawk News Editor. All organizations are asked to turn in informal snapshots of the group activities.

British Artist Will Address Friday Convo

By Pat Nolan

Eric Newton, the art critic of the London "Sunday Times," will speak at a 9:30 convocation Friday. Newton's appearance in Omaha is being sponsored jointly by Omaha U. and the Joslyn Art Museum.

Newton has not announced his topic for the convo talk, but has indicated that he will illustrate his talk with slides of old and modern art.

After the convocation, he will meet with art classes until noon. At 12:15, a student luncheon will be held in Newton's honor in the east cafeteria. Art, humanities and journalism students will attend the luncheon, and all other students are invited to attend.

Before coming to OU, Newton will appear on a television program Thursday afternoon, and give a lecture at the Joslyn Museum Thursday evening at 8 p. m. His topic for the Joslyn talk is "How To Enjoy Painting."

Newton began his career as an artist and craftsman in mosaics. He served as art critic on the "Manchester Guardian" for 14 years before moving to the London paper.

Before coming to the United States on his current lecture series, he has spoken in Dublin and Liverpool in England, in Sweden and on the British Broadcasting System.

Newton's appearance in Omaha is part of a nation-wide lecture tour. The tour will take him to various principle cities in the United States.

Rescue Squad Heads 'Accident List' Show

This week's program will feature Omaha's Rescue Squad using tape recordings of the squad's accident runs and interviews with men on the squad. The show is titled "Rescue Squad—Angels of Mercy."

The show is an all-University production with the announcers, writers and on-the-spot recording crews coming from speech students and other interested students. The program is under the supervision of Director of Speech Bruce Linton and is being produced by Jack Katz.

Monday Rally Opens Campus Chest Drive

Pretty representative, aren't they? . . . Candidates for "Ugly Man" and "Cutest Pan." Not pictured is Connie Eade of Zeta Tau Alpha.

The annual Campus Chest Drive received a kick-off boost yesterday morning at the rally in the auditorium. Don Blocker emceed the rally with the assistance of Bob Darrah and Maynard Tatelman. Dean Jay MacGregor gave a short talk on the purpose and the goals of the drive.

Before the presentation of the candidates for the "Ugly Man" and "Cutest Pan" titles, the three emcees entertained the audience with impersonations.

"Cutest Pan" contestants are Connie Eade, Zeta; Louann Focht, Chi O; Mary Richardson, ISA, and Joan Willey, Alpha Xi Delta.

Men vying for the "Ugliest Man" distinction are Fred Shinrock, Sig Ep; Wayne Board, Lambda Chi; Jim Dubois, Pi Kappa Alpha; John Mitchell, ISA; Jack Fraenkel, Theta Chi, and Maynard Tatelman, Phi Ep. The winning candidates will be awarded prizes at the closing rally Friday in the auditorium.

Each penny contribution to the Campus Chest is one vote for the donor's favorite candidate. The total votes will be shown by the candidate's place on the totem pole—top spot for the leading contestants. Totem pole positions are changed every hour by the APO sponsors. Contributions are being taken in the checkroom.

The money collected through the Campus Chest will be divided among three agencies: the Red Cross, Community Chest and World Students' Service Fund. The Drive is expected to go over the total of $900 received in last year's Chest Drive.

Charlie Platt and Jack Frost, APO members, are chairmen of the 1952 Campus Chest Drive.

Authoress Wain Will Discuss 'America's Stand in Europe'

A woman who believes "we can lead the world into a workable union, a potential community" will speak at the fifth lecture of the World Affairs Institute.

Nora Wain, author and magazine writer, will speak tomorrow night at 8:15 in the OU auditorium. Mrs. Wain's experience in both Europe and Asia has made her an authority on the thoughts of the oppressed people of the world.

The theme of her lectures is "a coming fraternal community."

The subject of her speech at the University is "Where Does America Stand in Europe?"

Mrs. Wain writes articles for the "Saturday Evening Post" and "Atlantic Monthly." She spent five months on the Korean war front—one of six correspondents on the Manchurian border when the Chinese Communists began their attack.

Her latest book, "Sliding Doors," will be published this fall. The book concerns three post-war years in the Orient. Mrs. Wain has also authored "House of Exile" and "Reaching for the Stars."

Nora Wain . . . world union.

"Exile" was written after a ten-year stay in the Orient. She accompanied her husband, a British foreign service official, to Germany in 1934. During the next five years, she watched World War II in the making. In 1939, she wrote "Reaching for the Stars," a best-seller.

Unexpected Problems Dog Affairs Institute

By Mary Ann Conley

Maybe U. S. postmen are not stopped by "hail, nor gloom of night," but the rule hardly applies to lecturers scheduled to appear at the University of Omaha World Affairs Institute.

This fact has been brought home many times to Prof. William T. Utley, who has had the job of securing the lecturers for the past five years.

A case in point is the trouble that surrounded the talk by Joseph T. Harsch during the 1951 Institute series. Harsch was called to Europe on assignment before the lecture and was unable to make it at the appointed time. Utley re-scheduled his lecture as a post-Institute affair. This should have been the end of the story, but it wasn't.

In the winter, when Harsch was to come to Omaha, an ice-storm gripped the Middle West and his plane was grounded in Kansas City. Undaunted, Harsch hopped a train and arrived in Omaha just one hour before he was scheduled to appear on the platform in the University auditorium. What was Utley doing all this time? Quietly growing older and older.

Whew! The day after the lecture, Harsch was due back in New York, but in Omaha even the birds were walking. He managed to charter a private plane and get back to his home base. Utley had a quiet relapse.

Nature has interfered on other occasions, too. When Madame Pandit Nehru was scheduled to speak, she turned up ill in Sweden. A logical substitute was an Indian Maharajah. This idea died a natural death when the Maharajah decided debating the Pakistan question in the United Nations was more important than addressing a lecture audience in Omaha.

With the aid of the agencies that book the speakers, another Indian nobleman saved the day. That night Utley counted a few less hairs.

Government Aid

Even the government has been called in to aid in Institute crisis. When Gen. Albert Wedemeyer could not fulfill a speaking engagement made months in advance, Utley exercised his right as a citizen and contacted the late Sen. Kenneth Wherry.

As a result of "string-pulling," Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine opened the 1951 World Affairs Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Utley take over as hosts for the celebrities who come to address the Institute. They arrange for luncheon engagements, have the lecturers address classes at the University and are general good-will agents during the Omaha stay.

This isn't Utley's first experience with lecture scheduling. He did the same job at Bradley University in Peoria, Ill., before coming to OU.

It may be summed up as a "good job in which to lose your hair."

Angels Flight Helps Cadets

Those girls that you see sporting their capes and hats have become fashion plates of Omaha University society. The girls are Omaha U.'s answer to the WAF's, the Angels Flight.

When the ROTC program was started on the University of Omaha campus, the girls, not to be left out, organized a feminine part of the military program.

Each Friday, which is uniform day for the ROTC cadets, the Angels don their capes and hats for the day. Their white satin capes and blue hats have caused much comment from the male population as of late, and all for the good.

The Angel members have the jump on the cadets, as all girls in the organization are at least second lieutenants, not having to come up through the ranks. Girls having higher rank are Angel officers.

However, there is honorary rank held by some of the members which they received at last year's Military Ball.

The Angels is one of the first organizations of its kind in the country, and are the envy of girls visiting from other universities.

OU Students Ignore 'Burger's Ingredients

As the old saying goes, "Look before you leap." But this must not be the case with the modern day college students. At least, not so for the University of Omaha students.

According to cafeteria cooks, one of the most popular sandwiches the school offers is the "ranchburger." But, how many students know what is in a "ranchburger?"

Upon the completion of a poll, about one out of every seven students knew for sure what was in the R . . . burger . . .

According to Mrs. Martina Krough, cafeteria worker, the students like them and she has heard no complaints.

This is indicative of either of two things. Either the students actually like them or, after downing a burger, they are in no condition to complain.

After all, a parachute packer gets no complaints if one of his chutes doesn't open.

Just so that the students will know from now on, the "ranchburgers" are made up of the following ingredients: Prepared mustard, catsup, onions, prepared hamburger meat and buns.

Letters to The Editor

Dear Editor,

In response to your article published in last Tuesday's edition of The Gateway, I wish to let you know that I am in favor of stadium lights for night football games.

Of course, I realize that there will be some dissension against the project, but I feel that the majority of the students are in favor of the plan.

To try to prove my point, I started a petition to find out what the students' opinions were. Later it was taken up by Melvin Rousek and some members of his fraternity.

Our idea was that many students will not take the time to write letters; so if we wrote a letter for them and had them sign their names, it would be almost the same thing.

Even football players would like lights for the stadium, as you will see by their signatures.

One argument against the lights is that if the games are held on Saturday nights, many of the band players will not be able to attend as they usually work Saturday nights.

However you will see for yourself when the petition is turned in, how many students favor lights for our stadium.

Wayne Hanson.

Editor's Note: When the above mentioned petition is turned in, the Gateway will publish the number of names listed.

Dear Editor,

We the undersigned members of Gamma Delta Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta are very much in favor of night football games for Omaha University.

We believe that it would enable more students, alumni and the general public to attend our games. (Signed) 41 members of Alpha Xi Delta.

Dear Editor,

I am definitely in favor of lights for the Omaha University Stadium.

First of all, I think it is quite obvious that there is a comparatively meager student attendance at the Saturday afternoon football games. I'm sure that these empty seats in the bleachers can't all be attributed to a lack of student support.

I know many students who would be glad to be at all of the University football games if they didn't have to work on Saturdays. Night games, I believe, will provide a definite lift in game attendance.

Another point to remember is the almost inevitable appeal to the general public, who are really interested in their city University's sports activities, but who can't attend the games because the present bad timing conflicts with their work.

Jerry Rosinsky.

Could Be They Want To Be Alone

The Interfraternity Council at Augustana College refused last week to let the student newspaper there cover its meetings.

"I don't think that proceedings of the Council should be open to the public, as they would be if a reporter were allowed to attend," said an IFC spokesman. "Fraternities are secret organizations—their business is not the business of the campus."

Commented the Augustana Observer: "We have no desire to spy on anyone . . . only to observe and report the news. . . . It is with great disappointment that we bow to the wisdom of the Grecian sages."

Art Club to Elect This Year's Slate

The election of officers and the making of the first draft of their constitution will highlight the first meeting of the newly organized art club at the University.

Phil Abramson will conduct the meeting as their temporary chairman.

The meeting will be held at 3 p. m. Thursday in room 376.

The Nickels You Save . . .

KWOU is on the air.

As you probably already know, KWOU is the Omaha U. campus radio station, operated and directed by speech and radio students. Its power is limited so that it cannot be heard away from the University campus.

But enough for the background. This year KWOU has started something new—it is being piped through the juke box in the Student Center from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. In this way, it will not conflict with anything else, and all students may enjoy it.

And we mean enjoy it. The staff of the station this year has lined up a fine group of announcers and writers in an effort to give you the music you want to hear.

With KWOU broadcasting through the juke box, you will be able to hear your favorite music free of charge. This service could save some of you a considerable amount of money during the coming semester.

At least during this week, your nickels can be spent in a much more important way. When you reach into your pocket or purse for the old buffalo head, think again—and give it to the Campus Chest Drive.

Charlie Platt and Jack Frost have done a lot of planning to put this Chest Drive over the top. Their ideas are good and should bring in a lot of contributions.

But it takes your nickels and dimes to finish the job . . . the nickels and dimes you save or earn from doing without something you think you want.

Mobile Collection Visits OU

By Joyce Erdkamp

A little man with a "fabulous enterprise" visited the OU campus Friday afternoon. The man was Sidney Vereker—his enterprise was a bookmobile filled with $60,000 worth of art books.

The official title of the traveling bookstore is "Gallery Hacker Art Books." Gathered from the four corners of the earth, the books range from art of the Neanderthal man through Picasso to the modern abstractionists.

Subjects, however, are not limited to art. They include books on insects; translations of Immanuel Kant, costuming and home decoration. "Everything in life is tied up with art. Art is another word for culture," explained Vereker.

Cambridge Grad

Price range of the books is as extensive as his collection—ranging from one dollar to $2,000. Most of the books are rare copies, for, said Vereker, "Why should I carry books that you can buy here?"

Vereker is a typical graduate of Cambridge University. Dressed in traditional tweeds, he clenched a pipe between his teeth as he talked to visitors in the library.

Seller, Author

A book writer as well as a book seller, he began as a reporter, "but," he said quickly, "you can't call that writing." A writer for Faust's Publications, he has authored books on show business. When asked if his writing was a hobby, Vereker emphasized that his writing is "strictly for money. I don't believe in art for art's sake, rather I believe in it for getting money. But it has to be good art," he said.

Book source for his traveling library is the Hacker Art Gallery in New York City. The largest store of art books in the country, it is owned by his brother-in-law, Seymour Hacker.

College Business

Vereker covers 30,000 miles a year throughout the country. Selling mainly to colleges and universities because "the average college student cannot afford my books," Vereker claims to have visited every campus in the United States.

Now traveling the Midwest, Vereker finds the flat, plain country "very enjoyable" after the mountainous roads of the West.

Wyoming roads proved hazardous for him last winter. His truck skidded on ice and hit a pole. The impact sent the engine of the truck into the middle of the collection.

National Fame

"The only thing that saved me," he explained, "was a volume of Racine that fell on me, broke my jaw, knocked some of my teeth out and sent me sprawling on the floor away from the engine."

He admitted that he is not anxious to sell the volume.

Vereker's two-year tour of the country has won him nation-wide fame. The latest issue of "Newsweek" has a two-column feature on his bookmobile in the education section.

Indians Dunk Knox For Third Home Win

Omaha Takes 20-0 Tilt with Three Markers in First Half

Omaha University treated a Dad's Day and Air Force Day crowd of 2800 to a 20-0 victory over Knox College Saturday.

The win was the third for the Indians against a like number of defeats, and preserved the perfect 1952 OU record of home victories.

All twenty points were garnered in the first half as the Knox defense stiffened in the last two periods to bottle the attack.

The Red and Black scored the first time they had possession on a march of 56 yards.

Christie, Bahensky Alternate

Keith Christie and Jerry Bahensky alternated toting the ball on the drive with Bahensky's 37-yard sprint to the Siwash 27 as the key play.

Christie carried three times for ten yards to put the Indians on the five. Jerry Welling bucked to the three while a penalty put the Illinois crew back to the one.

Bob Schropp slammed over for his first varsity score with five and a half minutes gone in the first quarter. Aksel Schmidt's kick was wide for the extra point.

The Indians countered again early in the second period on another power drive, this time covering 86 yards.

Christie was the workhorse of the march with able assistance from Jerry Ziehe and Bob Rose.

Tannahill Saves the Day

A 17-yard Ziehe to Christie passed lifted the Omahans out of the hole to the OU 44. After two plunges netted the Indians a first down on the Knox 45, Rose scampered 23 yards on an end around to the Siwash 22.

A penalty and a Christie plunge gave the Indians the ball on the 12. On the next play, Christie broke off tackle to the Knox three where he fumbled. Jerry Tannahill took advantage of the miscue to recover the loose ball in the end zone for the second Omaha score. Schmidt converted to give the Indians a 13-0 lead.

Alert line play by Howard Baker handed OU its third and final tally late in the second quarter.

Siwash fullback Pat Fairman lost a pitchout on the Knox 23 and Baker gathered in the pigskin and ran for a touchdown.

Christie Scores

However, officials ruled the ball dead on the eight yard line with OU in control. Christie then slanted seven yards to the one and dove over for paydirt on the next play. Schmidt again toed the point to hand the Indians a 20-0 half-time bulge.

A tough Knox defense limited the Indians in their offense tactics in the second half.

However, one OU touchdown and a long run setting up another were nullified by whistles.

Midway in the third period, guard Arnold Smith picked off a Knox fumble and rambled 74 yards to the Siwash three. The referee ruled the ball dead on the Omaha 23.

Bahensky had his first OU tally called back in the last quarter after he had dodged forty yards to score. Officials said his forward motion was stopped on the twenty.

Rose Hurt

The Red and Black line on both offense and defense was the bright spot of the contest.

Steve Marinkovich, Don Hopkins, Larry and Harry Johnson, Dick Edgerton, and Rose were standouts on offense.

Don Maseman, Tom Bell, Ernie Lee, Arnold Smith, Larry Johnson, Jim Spencer, Joe Moran, and Jerry Lawson were shining lights on defense.

Rose was the only casualty when he was knocked out and suffered a cut under his left eye.

Trackmen to Attend Meeting Thursday

A call went out this week for all prospective track candidates to report to Track Coach Ernie Gorr for a meeting Thursday at 3 p. m. in the Fieldhouse.

Although practice sessions will not open for the thinclads for several weeks, Gorr wishes to see all of the prospective candidates. Even those men who are out for basketball or football are urged to attend.

The Indian indoor season will get under way sometime after the first of the year and continue until the outdoor schedule begins in the spring. The meeting Thursday is designed to give some idea of the Omaha prospects for this year.

Coach Gorr asks that any candidates who are unable to attend the meeting arrange to see him personally sometime this week.

Pi Kaps Lead Bowling Loop with Three Wins

After the first round of competition in the Intramural Bowling League, Pi Kappa Alpha, defending bowling champions from last year, is in first slot with three wins and no losses.

Six of the seven league teams saw action last Thursday afternoon, with the seventh, Theta Chi, holding a first round bye.

Pi Kap bowlers won all of the games of the three game series from Phi Epsilon Pi by forfeit. In second place with 2½ wins is Sigma Phi Epsilon. The Sig Eps won two and tied one game in their series with AF-ROTC bowlers.

The Independent Students Association is in third place after taking two wins while losing once in competition with Lambda Chi Alpha bowlers.

Thursday Sig Ep will draw the bye while AF-ROTC meets Theta Chi, Lambda Chi Alpha clashes with Pi Kappa Alpha and ISA challenges Phi Epsilon Pi. All team competition is held at the 40-Bowl alleys starting at 3 p. m.

Dads Day Crowd Sees Four Groups Entertain

One of the largest crowds to see an Omaha University home game in recent years also witnessed halftime ceremonies conducted through the efforts of four of the University's campus organizations.

The Indian band, members of the ROTC and Angels, the newly organized card section, and members of Orchestis treated the 2800 people during the intermission. The game was officially designated Dads' and ROTC Day.

In addition, all ROTC cadets attending the contest wore their uniforms. Dads of the players and also the dad of Coach Lloyd Cardwell sat on the sidelines throughout the game. Each father wore a number corresponding to that of his son.

During the intermission ceremonies the band presented a Halloween program, including several numbers. The Orchestis, girls' dancing group, also performed.

As their contribution to the ceremonies, a group of ROTC cadets performed a short comedy skit and a crack drill unit performed. The card section offered two displays. One was a large pipe, while the other consisted of the word "DAD."

WOW-TV To Carry Homecoming Contest

Intramural Council Decides Protested Tilt 'No Contest'

During a meeting held Friday afternoon in the Fieldhouse, the Intramural League Council, governing body of the Omaha Intramural League, voted unanimously to call last Tuesday's Sigma Phi Epsilon-Blackhawk football game no contest.

The game was disallowed because of rule infractions on the part of both teams during the game. Blackhaws were originally declared the winner.

A protest of the game by Sig Ep coach Ken Kremers necessitated the decision by the Council. The protest was based on Kremers' claim that Sigma Phi Epsilon should have won the contest during an overtime penetration period.

At the end of regulation play the two teams were locked in a scoreless tie. This called for an overtime period.

Rules state that in an overtime period each team is allowed four downs, with the team gaining the most yardage getting the win. An intercepted pass automatically gives the ball to the other team or ends the game, depending on whether or not the other team has had its four downs.

In the Sig Ep-Blackhawk contest, Sig Ep took five downs, gaining about twenty yards. On the first down for the Blackhaws Lee Nelson intercepted a pass.

The officials ruled that the pass interception did not end the game and the downs should be played out. In their five downs, Blackhaws gained three more yards than the Sig Eps and were declared the winners.

However, the council decided that because both teams took five downs instead of the prescribed four, and the game was not stopped after the intercepted pass, both squads were at fault.

The game will be replayed Friday afternoon at 3.

Lt. Joyce Speaks to OU Water Sports Club

Omaha's newly organized Water Sports Club met at 3 p. m. Friday and made plans for future activities involving the group.

Committees were set up for organization, instruction and social activities. Plans were also discussed for a splash party to be given by the organization later in the year.

Lt. Fred Joyce of the United States Air Force spoke to the group on sailing and sailing activities. Lt. Joyce is a former commodore of the Notre Dame Sailing Club. He is stationed at Offutt Air Force Base.

James To Handle Announcing Duty

Plans for the television broadcast of Omaha University's Homecoming game with Doane College slated for Nov. 15 are nearly completed, according to OU and TV officials.

WOW-TV will do the telecast beginning at 1:45 with game time scheduled for 2. It will be the second time that WOW-TV has televised an Indian football game.

WOW-TV will carry the game only on a local basis, replacing the NCAA Game of the Week in this area.

Virg Yelkin, Omaha U. Athletic Director, and Lyle DeMoss, Assistant General Manager of Meredith WOW, Inc., are in charge of advance negotiations for the telecast.

Ken James Broadcasts

Since Jack Payne, regular WOW-TV sportscaster, will be in Lincoln broadcasting the Nebraska U. Homecoming Ken James will be at the television microphone for the Indian fray.

James is a television veteran despite his youth. He joined the Meredith WOW system in August of 1951 with an abundance of broadcasting experience.

The battle between the two elevens shapes up to be a number one grid attraction for TV viewers in the Omaha district.

In 1947, Omaha U. mauled Sioux Falls College 39-0. Doane College succumbed to the Indian attack 13-6 in the muddy 1948 Homecoming game.

Series About Even

Doane measured the Omahans in the first tilt of their grid history in 1913, 13-0. In 1916, the Tigers again emerged victorious by the score of 20-0.

The series skipped eight years to 1925 when the Indians gained their first win over Doane 6-0. However in the following campaign, the Tigers went on a rampage to crush OU 73-0.

Omaha gained sweet revenge when the two clubs clashed in 1933 with a 52-6 rout. In 1947, the Crete eleven nudged the Red and Black 7-6 while the 1948 battle went to the Indians 13-6.

OU dropped the Tigers in 1949 and 1950 by identical scores, 20-6. Last season, Doane upset the Indians at Crete 20-14.

For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."
